Descriptions of Notable Meetings/Events:

New Board of Governors Member Orientation

I was able to attend an orientation for the U of L Board of Governors. Despite the fact that we had a meeting in June, this was our first time with all of our new members present. We really had an in-depth run down of the rules and responsibilities of the governing body, which is invaluable information moving forward.

Common Book Project Launch

I had the amazing opportunity to speak at the Common Book Project Launch. The School of Liberal Education has worked to make this project successful, and I was very honoured to be able to speak to the importance of this important initiative on our campus.

Let There Be Light Night

It was an honour to represent the ULSU at the Alumni Association's biggest event of the year. It was incredible to hear about the success stories of some of our alumni.

Convocation

I had the opportunity to once again represent the ULSU at a convocation ceremony. There's no better feeling than walking in that procession and getting to congratulate each graduate individually. I love seeing all of the smiling faces of everyone, and it's a truly heartwarming day of which to be a part.

Open House

I had the chance to welcome all of our Open House attendees at the beginning of the program. It was awesome to see all of the young high school students so excited about taking this new stage of their life. Jessica and I also were available during a session for students if they had any questions about the ULSU and the services we offer.

Legislative Review Committee

We met for our first meeting of LRC. It was really nice to get this committee started early, as this committee hasn't met in awhile. We were able to divide the workload between all of us who sit on the committee, and we were able to develop a game plan for the rest of the year.

Advocacy Advisory Committee

We had our first meeting of AAC. Victoria provided all of the committee members with an overview of the purview of AAC, and how we'll be using this committee as a vehicle for our GOTV work.

RBC Roundtable

I was invited to attend a roundtable with the CEO of RBC to discuss opportunities for youth in the workforce in a changing world. It was eye-opening to hear about some of RBC's initiatives, and different perspectives on how youth can engage in the world after and during post-secondary.

Shred Event

Each year, the University supports our food bank with a shred event that is open to the public so long as there is a monetary or food donation to the food bank. This year, we exceeded expectations and raised about $700!

Thank you for taking the time to read this, and feel free to contact me with any questions or concerns you may have regarding my report.
