FIRST-YEAR LEARNING EXPERIENCE

My first year as a student at the University of Lethbridge has certainly been one of ups and downs; a year of new experiences and new challenges that have not only humbled me, but sparked a new sense of excitement and enthusiasm for learning. I have learned that it is okay to not know how things work, what I'm supposed to be doing, and that everyone has these feelings sometimes. That's what we're here for, to figure it all out along the way while we branch out and explore new ideas, try new things, and discover new passions that we may have been afraid to stoke the fires to. It has truly been an inspiration to be surrounded by so many talented people at the Students' Union, and on campus in general. I've used my time on the General Assembly to soak up and absorb as much information about the campus as I could. I then used that information to inform my constituents to the best of my ability. I have spent hours on engaging and listening to the problems and issues that first year students have brought to me, and ensured that these concerns were brought to the table at each and every meeting. I have had so many new opportunities here, made many new friends that I'm incredibly grateful for; friendships that I'll cherish and opportunities that I've grown from on both a personal and professional level. I can't wait to see what comes next. Storm Liversuch - 1st Year Student Rep

CAUS REPORT

It has been a very busy year with regards to involvement with our provincial lobby organization, the Council of Alberta University Students (CAUS). CAUS represents 100,000 university students in Alberta from the University of Alberta, the University of Calgary, the University of Lethbridge, Mount Royal University, and MacEwan University. When we, as the new delegates, took over CAUS in May of 2017, the Government of Alberta had many ongoing reviews concerning Advanced Education that included the tuition and fees review, roles & mandates, and funding framework review. Therefore, we had to hit the ground running. As Vice-President External for the ULSU, I really wanted to get involved with CAUS and leave my mark, which is why I ran for the position of Vice-Chair. Being Vice-Chair of CAUS throughout this busy year has been a challenge, but also a privilege. I have enjoyed working with other CAUS delegates and staff. Below are some highlights from our year.

During our first meeting, our membership agreed to prioritize student issues such as affordability (tuition regulation, elimination of market modifiers, and upfront grants for students), mental health funding, student employment, governance (more student representatives in universities), and institutional funding. Throughout the year, membership has demonstrated the utmost level of commitment to each of these priorities. With regards to mental health funding, the Government of Alberta announced in June an investment of $25.8 million over three years to improve mental health resources for post-secondary. Since that time, CAUS has continued advocating for students to government by holding government accountable with issues such as the distribution formula and the type of services that will be offered on campus with this funding. With regards to tuition regulation, CAUS ran a campaign in January/ February calling on the Government of Alberta to regulate tuition for both domestic and international students. We believe that the additional pressure that was put on the government by our organization helped to speed up the process with regards to the tuition and fees review, and we look forward to upcoming government announcements concerning tuition.

CAUS hosted and participated in many events throughout the last year. This included Fall Advocacy Days (November 2017) and Advocacy Week (April 2018), but also included three Counterpart Conferences and CAUS' 30th Anniversary Celebration. In closing, to work with nine other smart, dedicated and confident people throughout the year was truly a blessing and something that I will be forever grateful for. I am very proud of the work that CAUS has done this year with limited staff and resources. I hope that the students we represent at the ULSU and CAUS are proud of the work as well. Conner Peta - Political Science major

CASA REPORT

It has been a very busy and productive year with our federal lobby group, the Canadian Alliance of Student Associations (CASA). CASA represents 255,000 post-secondary students from 23 student associations coast to coast. The ULSU took part in all four of CASA's conferences. The first conference of the year was CASA's foundations conference, which served as an introduction to the organization as we brainstormed ideas and elected delegates to both our board and our committees. I had the privilege of being elected to the policy committee. The next conference of the year was policy and strategy, where membership developed its priorities for the upcoming year and committees were able to create workplans for the upcoming year. That is also where membership voted on the location of our final conference of the year, the annual general meeting.

The third CASA conference was the most important one of the year, which was our federal advocacy week. Advocacy week is where membership gets to meet with government, including Members of Parliament (MPs), Senators, Cabinet Ministers, and stakeholder groups such as the Social Science and Humanities Research Council (SSHRC) and the Canada Student Loan Program (CSLP), to name a few. CASA had 146 meetings that week (not including meetings with stakeholder groups) with MPs, Cabinet Ministers and Senators. I was lucky to be included in one of the high-level meetings, which was with the Office of the Leader of the Official Opposition. During that week, CASA advocated for better supports for students with disabilities, creating Canada student grants for graduate students, including co-ops in the international student study permits, increased funding for indigenous students, the importance of fair dealing, and developing open educational resources in coordination with the Tri-Agencies.

The final conference of the year was our annual general meeting, where membership voted on and adopted the work that our committees had prepared over the year. Furthermore, this conference was an opportunity to close out the year and prepare to pass the baton to next year's membership. Overall, it was a very good conference, and a good way to end the year. I am very proud of the work that CASA has done this year and very proud of the things that we advocated for the government. It was a fantastic year! Conner Peta - VP External

MEET & GREET WITH PREMIER NOTLEY

The ULSU Executive Council was invited by the U of L President's office to a meet and greet with Premier Notley. We had a five minute conversation with the Premier, where we thanked her for the mental health funding and talked to her about some of our initiatives on campus. During the event, the Premier talked about the funding framework review, the tuition review, and mental health funding. Conner Peta - VP External

MENTAL HEALTH ANNOUNCEMENT

The ULSU Executive Council attended the 2017 Wellness Summit, hosted by Healthy Campus Alberta. Overall, the event was great, and the sessions were very informative. Additionally, the Honourable Marlin Schmidt, the Minister of Advanced Education, and the Honourable Brandy Payne, the Associate Minister of Health, were in attendance for an announcement surrounding Mental Health funding. The announcement was a three-year, $25.8 million-dollar commitment to Mental Health. Conner Peta - VP External

GRADE APPEALS

This year many students came to the ULSU regarding various academic grievances. The University's procedures for grade appeals place a lot of emphasis on concluding any issues before they reach appeals. Thus, many of the grievances brought forward to me were resolved without the need to actually strike the grade appeal committee. Much of my function in the grade appeal process was to act as a supporter or resource-person, and as the student representative for the actual grade appeal committee.

Many students just need reassurance that they can question their professors, after that they can actually conclude any issues. However, many times the student is not satisfied with the justification an instructor may give for the grade the student received. This results in the grade appeal committee being struck. The committee is comprised of the grade appeal chair, a faculty representative and a student representative, usually the VP Academic of the ULSU, namely me. The amount of work that goes into a successful grade appeal package is daunting, and that is nothing compared to the intimidating bureaucratic stressors that come with an appeal. However, this is a very important process to ensure a fair academic system. Sandeep Parmar - VP Academic

ADVOCACY ADVISORY COMMITTEE

This year, the Advocacy Advisory Committee worked to pass a few really important external advocacy policies. These policies shape the ULSU's mandate regarding advocacy for our organization. In the fall, we passed a Mental Health policy that included robust revisions and updated research. Furthermore, we completed the Anti-Discrimination policy that was started in the previous academic year. This policy is a huge success for the committee and the ULSU, overall. Finally, we also updated the University Sustainability policy which will ensure we are advocating for a safe, clean, and happy campus life for all students. The committee also helped devise a strategic plan for the next VP External and Policy Analyst in regards to our advocacy policies. Conner and I thank all members, especially the students-at-large, for their time and valuable insight. Victoria Schindler, Policy Analyst

#textbookbrokeab was ran simultaneously with the Students Unions/Student Associations, Vice President Academics from the University of Calgary, the University of Alberta, Mount Royal University, and MacEwan University. We started planning this initiative at our first CAUS (Council of Alberta University Students) Counterpart Conference. When discussing what our main goals were for the year, we were able to connect and talk about student issues that were important to us. #TextbookbrokeAB was intended to raise awareness about the rising cost of course materials and academic journals for post-secondary students, as well as to suggest an alternative, Open Educational Resources. (OER's) are openly licensed; freely accessible course materials that exist in the public domain, meaning anyone can use them, access them, and distribute them. During this campaign, we asked students to take photos of themselves holding a whiteboard and writing on it the amount of money that they spent on their textbooks that semester. These images were then tweeted out using the hashtag "#TextbookBrokeAB" and were used to demonstrate why the OER movement is important. Furthermore, it was to inform students about OERs and how to get involved with OERs. This campaign garnered the attention of the University Bookstore, Library and Teaching Center, all of whom have assisted us with spreading the message about OERs to students, faculty, and the university community alike. Sandeep Parmar - VP Academic

CAMPUS STORES CANADA

The #TextbookBrokeAB campaign and the Students' Union's push for open educational resources (OER) resulted in student leaders, including myself, being invited to speak on a panel at Campus Stores Canada's Annual Conference in Niagara Falls, Ontario in late January. The panel also included industry representatives from the publishing industry. The conversation of the panel revolved around the value of textbooks, and OERs. We were able to speak about our experiences with supporting OER in our area, which also included both the wins and challenges we had faced along the way. It was a great conversation to have with industry representatives as those were exposed to many different perspectives in regards to teaching resources used in post secondary education. In the audience were university bookstores, high-profile publishing companies, and senior administrators from universities across the nation. Sandeep Parmar - VP Academic

FINE ARTS REPRESENTATION

In the academic year 2017/2018, I was capable of advocating and engaging with students in a number of ways. I sat on two University councils (General Faculty Council and Fine Arts Council) as well as on two Students' Union internal ad hoc committees (Executive Accountability Committee and Teaching Excellence Awards Committee). Through these venues, I was able to advocate for Fine Arts students and met with many students within the Fine Arts Faculty. I was able to encourage students to participate in campus events, and to have their voices heard with the referendum, by-elections, and general elections that happened. I had initially planned on a General Assembly initiative where I would be able to have a Fine Arts Celebration Night to continue after last year's, however, the New Media Student Society and I had differing opinions on what the priorities were, and it was not able to continue. This in turn led me to reach out and meet more Fine Arts students to get their input on what their student experience was.

Monica Collins - Fine Arts Rep

ARTS & SCIENCE REPRESENTATION - LAURA

Throughout the past year, I have had the opportunity to represent my constituents on a variety of university committees. Much of my work focused on mental health and upcoming calendar changes. At the beginning of September, I was able to speak at a government announcement regarding mental health funding. This funding represents a commitment from the provincial government to have continued mental health funding over the next two years. I also volunteered at the Calm Cafés for the first time. Calm Cafés are dedicated to raising awareness about mental health and allowing students to relax. It has always been a successful initiative and I was happy to be a part of it; we also were able to promote these events on the news. In addition, I met with different senior administrators to discuss calendar changes that may affect students. Being able to sit at the table and engage in these discussions is important, and I am proud of our ability to convey students' voices on such issues this past year. Laura Bryan - Arts & Science Rep

ARTS & SCIENCE REPRESENTATION - KALLEN

As an Arts and Science representative, I represented my constituents by sitting on various committees with fellow Students' Union representatives and University Administration. Some of these committees consist of Arts and Science Council and Arts and Science meeting (they sound similar, but there is nuance). In addition to that monthly I sit in the General Assembly meetings, which can last 1-3 hours. In General Assembly, or just GA, we discuss new initiatives and how those initiatives will be funded. In addition to that we hear monthly reports from executive members and other members who have something to report. Every now and then my position does not require me to sit in a meeting and I use that time to help out our GA members with their plans and initiatives. Kallen Morrison - Arts & Science Rep

ARTS & SCIENCE REPRESENTATION - ALAINA

Over the year, my reports have mostly consisted of committee meetings that I have sat on, and volunteer opportunities that I have seized. These have helped my constituents through consistent representation and allowing my concerns to be voiced.

My main initiative occurred in the middle of April. It consisted of myself and volunteers delivering stress-less bags to common study areas. We delivered 90 bags, each consisting of a pencil, pen, an eraser, snack, goodies and an information card about the ULSU Food Bank. The idea of this initiative was to help reduce stress that students experience around finals, while providing information on the food bank. Bags were delivered to the Markin study rooms and the Library. Overall, I have a strong belief that the bags were delivered to study of different programs and briefly helped with stress around finals. Alaina Pyde - Arts & Science Rep

MANAGEMENT ADVOCACY

The 2017/2018 year was one of massive and positive change for the University of Lethbridge management students. On March 14th, it was announced the Faculty of Management would become the Dhillon School of Business based on a record donation of $10 million from Bob Dhillon. This change brings a huge impact to future course offerings and student services. We worked hard to help advocate for student needs on these decisions. Further, the Dhillon School of Business went through the final steps of the AACSB accreditation process which is a highly prestigious accolade for the top business schools in the world. We worked to get more student voices in the room for the AACSB review team to be a part of the process and provide insight on students needs. Finally, we hosted weekly Re-charge Wednesdays in partnership with the Dhillon School of Business to improve students mental health and bring a positive energy and vibrancy to the Markin atrium. It was an incredibly successful year for management students and the future looks even more promising. Christian Blott - Management Rep

EDUCATION REPRESENTATION

This year, I had the pleasure of sharing the role of Education Representative with Jillian McGinley. Jillian represented the Faculty of Education students in the fall semester, and I represented the students in the spring semester. While representing over 1000 students in the Faculty of Education, we ensured that we brought forward the voice for the education students. This included clarifications for the UPass and acting as a liaison with the Education Undergraduate Society and faculty. Mikayla Kwan - Education Rep

INTERNATIONAL REPRESENTATION

The problem facing international students are multifarious; worrisome among them is the problem of international students' tuition. This issue was discussed extensively not only at the University of Lethbridge but also in other universities in Alberta. The provincial Advocacy group CAUS lobbied to the government about affordable, accessible and predictable fees for students irrespective of their nationalities.

The media took it up; hence our invitation to the CTV to expatiate further our views on the subject. It is my ardent wish that you assiduously escalate the issue further, ensuring the discussions by the appropriate quarters dispassionately so that international students can give a sigh of relief in this vein.

Although most of our requests haven't seen the light of day, it's my ardent prayer that it will in the not so distant future. With confidence, without boasting though, a number of issues pertaining to international students were raised and tackled. Howbeit, there is still more room for improvement.

I would like to say a big thank you to the Executive Council, my fellow General Assembly members and staff members. To the incoming Executive Council and General Assembly, I wish you the best of luck and a wonderful year.

Lastly, I acknowledge the Awards Committee for selecting me for the John Brocklesby Students' Union Award of Excellence. Darren Nii Martey Armah - International Student Rep

ORGANIZATION OF RESIDENCE STUDENTS

Being the Residence Representative for 1000 students who call the University of Lethbridge campus their home was an amazing experience. Collaborating with the Students' Union where we continued to improve the student experience for on-campus residents was a very fulfilling task. I hope it has left a lasting impact on a number of students at the University.

This year there were over 800 events organized for residents to take part in. As always, we kicked the year off with the Fresh Fest Luau, featuring a 100-foot slip and slide, bounce house, inflatable obstacle course, and great fun, food and music. The cabarets were a hit, starting with our Hawaiian beach-themed Kummoniwannaluau and wrapped-up the year with our traditionally Canadian Cabar-EH. The Winter Formal returned to the Lethbridge Lodge this year, and brought out nearly 500 students. This year's installments of Residence Wars saw two completely new events added to the docket, in Fort Wars and Family Feud. All four Residence Wars activities created healthy competition between residence sections, and ended with D/E3 being crowned Residence Wars champions. Other large events brought residents to Calgary on a number of occasions for Flames games and Stampeders games, and included a trip to Castle Mountain for a day on the slopes.

Along with these recurring fan-favourite events, we also introduced events bringing residents to the Roundtable Board Game Café, True North axe throwing and Get Air Trampoline Park. Dog walking was introduced as a weekly trip to help out the Prairie Pitbull Rescue take foster animals on walks. Since it started in the second semester, every spot was filled each week, and lead to some very happy puppies (and students)! Fiat Stache, our annual fundraiser for below-the-belt cancer, grew its total donation amount for the second consecutive year. A new fundraiser was installed this year in Pies 4 Lives, which gave residents the opportunity to pie their RA's to raise money for the Canadian Mental Health Association. These two main fundraisers, among others, saw over $4000 donated throughout the year.

Fall 2017 also saw the opening of two, new outdoor student common spaces, in the soccer field east of Mount Blakiston House, and the outdoor BBQ and firepit area south of Piikani House. These two areas were used steadily in the fall months, and have begun to pick up use once again as the weather slowly improves. Fall of 2018 will feature large-scale improvements to student social space in University Hall, all because of this year's work researching and approving funds. A new food service provider is coming to campus next year, which brings with it exciting new possibilities that residents will hopefully be able to enjoy for years to come. Being a part of the process to share the student perspective was extremely valuable and led to a decision that will benefit the entire campus community.

EDUCATION UNDERGRADUATE SOCIETY

As the Education Representative, Jill and I were a part of the Education Undergraduate Society (EUS). For the EUS this year, we continued to strengthen relationships with pre-education students through hosting two separate engagement events in collaboration with the Faculty of Education. Also, our tutoring program continued to be strong with over 70 matches at the time of this writing. In addition, we took part in Bell Let's Talk Day for the first time, combining with a PD session on Teacher Wellness.

COCA CONFERENCE

This year's COCA felt like I networked with more people than I ever have in the past, I learned so many valuable pro-tips and it was incredibly hard in the end to say farewell to all those faces once again.

Conference wise (putting my BOD hat on) the ed sessions I attended were informative, and there was enormous talent at each of the showcases. I felt Josh (the conference chair) and his team were very resourceful in problem solving last minute hiccups. I really look forward to checking out the video content when it's up on the site to see the ed sessions I could not attend.

I received an overwhelming number of takeaways that I brought back to the office. While I wasn't able to implement all of them, I've been able to refer back to my tip sheet throughout the year and remind myself of resources I have available at my disposal. Riley Miller - Communications Coordinator

MENTAL HEALTH WEEKS

The Mental Health Weeks each semester were huge successes. We had comedy shows, Calm Cafés and Art Therapy nights. Both weeks were jam packed with activities. Students were provided the opportunity to have free food, drink coffee, hot chocolate, colour mandalas, and play board games. Students shared a lot of laughs during comedy nights, and expressed their creative talents while enjoying each other's company at the Art Therapy nights. We collaborated with both the Student Success Centre and the Smash Bros Club for the Calm Cafés, which created a wide variety of resources at the events. Sandeep Parmar - VP Academic

Notable ULSU Academic Events

STUDENT SPEAKER CHALLENGE

This year the ULSU, LPIRG, and SACPA worked together to host the annual Student Speaker Challenge. This year the topic was Sexual Violence in the past, present and future. The topic was pretty open, and speakers could address any aspect of sexual violence in the past, present and future. The prizes were $1000 for 1st, $500 for second, and $250 for 3rd. We had great speakers this year, bringing many different points of view towards this topic. We heard many great points and in the end the winner was Ben Beland!

Sandeep Parmar - Biological Sciences major

THE LAST LECTURE

This year's Last Lecture was held on the evening of April 10th and there were at least 100 people in attendance, including both students and many faculty members. I could not be happier with the turnout. Although we encountered many technical difficulties, the speakers did a great job! All of the talks were very inspirational! Lisa Lambert, from Women and Gender Studies and Political Science gave an excellent rendition of her adventures, and her goals. She was tremendously entertaining as well as informative. Dr. Stefan Kienzle from Geography gave us a talk about learning everyday, learning from his students, protecting the environment, paying it forward and he touched on how important it is for individuals to "stop and smell the roses" in the journey that is life. His talk was very inspirational! Lastly, we had a riveting lecture from Dr. Steve Ferzacca about his adventures throughout life from being a "hippy kid" to completing his PhD. He talked about when he studied medical anthropology and how he now studies rock and roll artists in Singapore. Overall the event was a tremendous success, with many life lessons and more than a few laughs! Sandeep Parmar - Biological Sciences major

ACADEMIC SPEAKER - NOVA
BROWNING RUTHERFORD &
IAN CAMPEAU

I am very excited that this year the ULSU was able to bring in Nova Browning Rutherford and Ian Campeau, also known as DJ NDN from A Tribe Called Red as the academic speakers for October 5th, 2017. In addition to creating music, the members of A Tribe Called Red are also role models for many indigenous youth. Ian addresses issues such as racism, mental health, gender based violence, consent, current events, identity, community, balance between schoolwork and social life, healing, reconciliation and more. The Academic Speaker Series this year was composed of three different events. There was a presentation with Q&A that was mediated by Nova Browning Rutherford. Following the presentation, a professional development session with Nova focusing on helping people find a renewed sense of confidence and empowerment in their own lives. She assists with professional development in that she emphasizes effective tools to manifest dreams into future success. The third event was comprised of performances in the Zoo with Ian headlining. The event overall was a success and we received great feedback from those who attended. The event was full of inspiring messages about going out into the world to make a direct impact, whether it is around the world or in our own backyard. Ian and Nova brought an incredible energy that left everyone smiling and inspired for days! Sandeep Parmar - VP Academic

FRESH FEST REVIEW

This year's Fresh Fest was an interesting challenge with the forest fires, the Shine On event taking place, and with our Head Organizer stepping down the week of the event. I'd say we pulled off a successful event considering the hurdles our team was able to overcome! We were able to work with some amazing sponsors and bring on some very talented performers this year. While we weren't able to sell out our tickets, of those who were in attendance had overwhelming positive responses, and hopefully next year the weather is on our side for another amazing festival. Big shout out to our Fresh Fest team last year, Cheri, Tracy, Kaleigh, Victor, Ryan, Alana, and Shelby were all superstars in their field and we certainly would not have been able to pull off a successful run of events if it weren't for their efforts to pull it all together. Riley Miller - Communications Coordinator

Award Recipients

John Brocklesby Students' Union Award of Excellence

2017-2018 Award Winner: Darren Nii Martey Armah - International Representative, Gareth Jones - Calgary Campus Representative

This award was presented to the General Assembly member who had made the most significant contribution to the Students' Union, students, and the University community.

Darren has gone above and beyond for international students this year. His passion in advocating for the international students on campus has been outstanding. Not only can you count on his advocacy work but you can also count on him giving you a hand when it is needed.

Gareth has been an outstanding voice for our University of Lethbridge students on the Calgary campus. The betterment of his constituents has been his priority through developing a close knit community by creating several clubs.
Daan Smit - VP Student Affairs

Bill Chapman Students' Union Certificate of Distinction

2017-2018 Award Winner: Emily Gilroy

This award was presented to the University of Lethbridge student who had shown the most innovation in the area(s) of student affairs, wellness, or another notable field over the past year.

Emily has gone above and beyond to make the High School Model United Nations happen. Although she has put in many hours for Model UN, she was still able to be active in other clubs while still being a full time student. Her passion for the University student and community is what gave her the drive to make this possible.

Employee of the Year

2017-2018 Award Winner: Shawn Mullen - Kitchen/Catering Manager

This award was presented to the Students' Union employee who had made the most outstanding contribution to the organization over the past year, and best displayed the values of the Students' Union.

Shawn has been an amazing team player and never turns down an opportunity to help a club or student organization. He offers amazing customer service and always goes above and beyond. You can always count on him to come through with any job task.

Student Employee of the Year

2017-2018 Award Winner: Victoria Schindler - Policy Analyst

This award was presented to the Students' Union student employee who demonstrated the most exceptional contribution to our organization over the past year.

Victoria has done a fantastic job as the ULSU Policy Analyst. She updated policies on University sustainability, mental health, and has completed the anti-discrimination policy. She has also reviewed all of the ULSU external policies and identified weaknesses in them, something that has not been done in 5 years.

Helping Hand Award

2017-2018 Award Winner: University Grounds Department

This award was presented to a University of Lethbridge faculty or staff employee that had made the most significant and lasting contribution to the University of Lethbridge Students' Union over the past academic year.

The grounds department have consistently assisted the Students' Union with all of our events. They loan us equipment, offer assistance with initiatives, and are extremely supportive of the ULSU in general. We could not run our events like we do without them.

Outstanding Dedication Award

2017-2018 Award Winners: Ashley Cowie, Roy Pogorzelski

This award was presented to the University of Lethbridge employee in special recognition for outstanding dedication and support to the students of the University. Ashley has done an outstanding job as she ensures new students on campus are getting the resources and help they need to succeed. She's always looking for innovative ways to enhance the student experience.

Roy is a genuine, fun-loving character and has been a constant advocate for this organization in everything we do. But more importantly is his commitment and dedication to the University of Lethbridge students.

2017-2018 Award Winner: Knud Peterson - Southern Alberta Council on Public Affairs

This award was presented to the community organization for continued support of the University of Lethbridge Students' Union.

Knud has been involved with the Students' Union for quite some time with his involvement with the Student Speaker Challenge. It is very apparent that he wants to support the students at the University of Lethbridge to succeed.

Student of the Year Award

2017-2018 Award Winner: Christine Suominen

This award was presented to the student who embodied leadership, commitment, and contributed to the betterment of U of L students; this may have been exemplified by involvement in clubs, non-profit and/or student organizations, community, and volunteerism.

We received 3 pages of testimonials on how amazing Christine is, 3 pages! She exemplifies this award in so many ways. Going above and beyond with clubs, community members, organizations, not-for profits and people. She has done this out of a passion for the betterment for everything she becomes involved with. This is who she has always been.

Club of the Year Award

2017-2018 Award Winner: Model United Nations

This award was presented to the Students' Union ratified club that demonstrated the most outstanding effort and dedication in its endeavours over the past year.

Model United Nations not only offers excellent experiences for students at the University of Lethbridge, but also the community by bringing in the high school Model United Nations for the first time here in Lethbridge. These events have given our University students the opportunity to add unique experience to their academic career.

Outstanding New Club

2017-2018 Award Winner: UFOlogy

This award was presented to the Students' Union newly ratified club that had demonstrated the most outstanding, creative, new, and successful endeavours over the past year, with excellent standing with Clubs Council.

UFOlogy sought every opportunity to keep costs minimal (if non-existent) for its members to speak with local scientists, observe the galaxy, and speculate on life outside of our planet. They did this while putting exceptional effort in making the events as outstanding as possible.

Greek Organization of the Year

2017-2018 Award Winner: Kappa Sigma

This award was presented to the Students' Union ratified Greek organization that had exhibited the most community and campus involvement and support. The nomination for this award came from a third-party, accompanied with a formal letter of recommendation.

This award goes out to Kappa Sigma as they continued to excel in their initiatives. They have been extremely active and engaged in on-campus activities, and have also been strong advocates for positive campus experiences. They have put in a tremendous amount of volunteer hours and raised a significant amount of money for charities.

The Zoo Spirit Award

2017-2018 Award Winner: Shad Chollack - Sound Barrier

This annual award was presented to an individual who embodied the spirit of the Zoo! The recipient of this award went above and beyond to make the Zoo an amazing place for everyone through his energetic positivity. This award was presented to a member of the University of Lethbridge community who calls the Zoo their home.

Shad has come to the rescue for countless people, at a spectrum of events, on multiple occasions, and he is always happy and eager to do so. Last year we witnessed his behind the scene work, cutting as much of his fees down as possible to fit within our budget for the Jenna Marbles event, have the lowest cost possible for all our Frost Fest performers, afford sound for LCB, and much more. This year, he pulled through the same, amazing loyalty low prices for Ian Campeau's DJ NDN performance, the upgrades to Galileo's, the new lights he installed in the ballrooms, and 18 hour day he's planning to put in for this year's Last Class Bash festival. Riley Miller - Communication Coordinator

Volunteer Award

2017-2018 Award Winner: Cody Hunter

This award was presented to the most dedicated and enthusiastic student volunteer, specifically for Students' Union events and initiatives.

Cody has exhibited incredible leadership throughout his year that many senior students at this university could take notes from. In just his first year here at the U of L, Cody has consistently gone above and beyond to dedicate his time and energy into ensuring a better experience for others. We have seen him represent the ULSU as a volunteer at our events frequently and always does so in a way that draws others in and gets them excited about the ULSU. He has also worked incredibly hard to build our club scene at the University, even working to start his own club, all in his first year. Riley Miller - Communication Coordinator

Legacy Award

2017-2018 Award Winner: Conner Peta - VP External

This award was presented to the Students' Union Executive Council member who had exhibited the most outstanding leadership, ethics, and dedication during their term.

Conner Peta completed his term as the Vice President External of the Students' Union with poise, grace, and unwavering dedication to our students. Conner successfully represented students throughout all levels of government. As Vice-Chair of the Council of Alberta University Students,

Conner played a key role in the development and success of the student movement in Alberta. Conner not only benefited the student experience here at home but also for post-secondary students across Alberta. Further, in addition to many other ULSU initiatives and policy changes, Conner succeeded in getting the advanced polling station on campus for the municipal election. We wish Conner all the best in his future endeavours and are excited to see what he will accomplish. Cameron Howey - ULSU President Emeritus 2016-2017

Teaching Excellence Award

The University of Lethbridge Students' Union formally recognized and honoured teaching excellence at the University of Lethbridge. We accomplished this by offering students an avenue for nominating a professor, sessional staff or lab instructor who had shown outstanding efforts to increase the learning experience of their students. The award selection was based solely on teaching excellence. The winners were formally recognized as part of the ULSU Last Lecture event held during April of 2017.

Dr. Joy Morris

Dr. Joy Morris was selected for this award because of her helpfulness, her passion, and infectious energy while teaching. She is a strong supporter of student success inside and outside the classroom as well, showing strong support for individual learning. She is also very involved in the community as she helps with math outreach in Lethbridge.

Dr. Harold Jansen

Dr. Harold Jansen was selected for this award because of his outstanding leadership and tireless efforts in providing a quality education to students in and outside of the classroom. He has helped many students both in the introductory and senior level classes. He is a very student oriented teacher and is always willing to put in the time to ensure his students are learning effectively.

Dr. Muhammad Khan

Dr. Muhammad Khan was selected for this award because of his passion and charisma. He has inspired then mentored and supported countless math students to succeed. He teaches with fervour and demands high standards, leading to motivated and successful students. He is always willing to help inside and outside of the classroom. Sandeep Parmar - VP Academic

Laurence Decore Awards

2017-2018 Award Winners: Laura Bryan, Bronwyn Burghardt, Stephanie Croft, Thomas Kazakoff, Jamie Petersson, Natasha Saliken

The Laurence Decore Award for Student Leadership recognizes post-secondary students demonstrating outstanding dedication. Recipients were selected on the basis of involvement in either student government, student societies, clubs, or organizations. In addition, candidates may have been involved in student organizations at the provincial or national level or in non-profit community organizations.

This award recognizes that being a student is being part of a larger learning community. Student leaders are giving something of themselves to the community and the government of Alberta recognizes that these accomplishments are important just like academic, athletic or creative excellence.

Elections & Referendums

Spring 2018 Elections & Referendum

U-PASS NEGOTIATION

Hailey Babb, ULSU President, left and completed a legacy to remember this year. The ULSU has had collectively three referendums over a U-Pass system throughout the last two decades. This year Hailey presented the students with a referendum that they overwhelmingly supported and passed. This not only provides students with cheaper and easier transportation, but further incorporates our students into the city of Lethbridge. Hailey successfully negotiated with the city the best deal possible for students and the referendum results indicate this.

Hailey had a strong year as President full of many great initiatives and accomplishments. Her hard work and determination are showcased through the success of the referendum, but could be found in any aspect of her performance. Cameron Howey - ULSU President Emeritus 2016-2017

U-PASS REFERENDUM

QUESTION

"Do you support the adoption of a universal bus pass (UPass) equivalent to the cost of Lethbridge Transit's one-month Adult Pass (currently $77), plus an applicable service fee, to be applied to each undergraduate student enrolled in at least one for-credit, on-campus course on a per semester basis? "

Some students may opt-out of the program contingent on approved circumstance.

MISSION

The mission of the University of Lethbridge Students' Union is to provide our students, as well as faculty, staff, and alumni a portal to the unique University of Lethbridge experience. The Students' Union complements the academic programs and enhances the overall educational experience and quality of campus life for students and other members of the U of L family.

As the heart of the student community, we are committed to student success by delivering a diverse program of cultural, educational, social and recreational services. We strive to surpass the needs of our multi-cultural student community, create a positive learning experience, and maintain a healthy balance between academic and leisure activities.

VISION

The ULSU and the University of Lethbridge will deliver extraordinary service, facilities, programs and opportunities that exceed the expectations of our students. The Students' Union will be recognized locally, provincially and nationally as a dynamic and innovative leader in the Canadian university community.
